

Did you know...

...with Amadeus e-Travel Management travellers can easily combine different airlines and cabins from a single display?

Combine traditional airlines and low cost carrier flights in the same trip?

With Amadeus Single View you can easily mix different types of airlines on the same trip, so all you have to do is select the flights that suit you best. Fly out with British Airways and return with easyJet, selecting both through the same display.

Narrow down your flight results with the filter panel?

Choice can sometimes prove overwhelming. The filtering panel will allow you to concentrate only on those flights that interest you, reducing the number of options in the display with filters on time, price range, provider, origin or destination airport and the number of connections. You can apply different filtering criteria for outbound and inbound flights, making it easier to find the right combination.
